Competition Guidelines

Deadline for applications is 25th May

Purpose: The aim of this bursary is to allow a nurse to attend the annual EONS meeting. There are two travel bursaries of €600 available, one for each category.

What it funds: The bursary can be used for costs associated with EONS conference attendance including conference registration, flights, travel or accommodation.

Categories: There are two categories 'Best event' and 'Most creative social media'.

Deadlines: The deadline for application is Friday 25th May. No abstracts will be accepted after 17:00 hrs. Applicants will receive an email acknowledgement of their submission and can expect to be notified of the judges' decision by 29th June 2018.

The bursary must be used within 18 months of announcement of the winner.

Conditions: All applicants must be a registered nurse working in cancer care and have active membership of EONS.

Both categories are open to both individual members and organisational members. If an organisation is awarded a bursary, it is up to the organisation to decide on how best to assign the prize.

Applicants of the 'best event' category must include 10 photos and a brief description of their event (in English for the judges – entries will not be judged on the quality of language skills - and between 300/500 words). Video footage is encouraged but not compulsory.

Applicants of the 'Most creative social media' category must title their submission, send screenshots of social media posts and interactions including what response they received.

The EONS Secretariat will liaise with the winner to facilitate award costs. Half the award will be provided on winning and half will be provided on submission of receipts.

The winners of the bursary will be invited to produce a brief summary of their experience and how they benefited from the bursary, to be published by EONS in the newsletter, website or via social media channels. This must be submitted within one month of conference attendance. If language is a problem, the winners can be interviewed for an article.
