EONS activity updates

- Prostate Project, PSA Phase 1: Françoise Charnay-Sonnek
- Post-basic curriculum for breast cancer nursing: Debbie Fenlon
- Post-basic curriculum for lung cancer nursing: Sara Faithfull

PSA: Providing Supportive care and Advice to men with prostate cancer

- ▶ Prostate cancer is increasing
 - In 2002 679.000 new cases in the world
 - 221.002 deaths
- ▶ Unmet needs related to supportive care:
 - Urinary, bowel symptoms
 - Erectile dysfunction, reduced libido
 - Incontinence
- ▶ Body image, self esteem
- ▶ Project aims to improve education and skills of clinicians

Important role of the nurse

- Nurses can be key informants for patients in relation to aiding treatment decision making
- Sources of patient education and information
- Provide continuity of after care
- Provide an assessment of needs
- Offer interventions for symptom management
- Refer and organise packages of care
- Identify and manage psychosocial concerns

PSA PROJECT

three fold purpose

- 1.To highlight the training needs of nurses and young physicians across Europe (Phase 1)
- 2.To compare these with patients'/partners' views (Phase 2)
- 3.To develop and evaluate an educational intervention (Phase 3)

Thanks to the team

Dr Daniel Kelly – EONS, Project Lead, UK

Professor Sara Faithfull – EONS, UK

Ms Kay Leonard – EONS, Ireland

Bente Thoft Jensen – Chair EAUN

Prof. Louis Denis – EUROPA UOMO

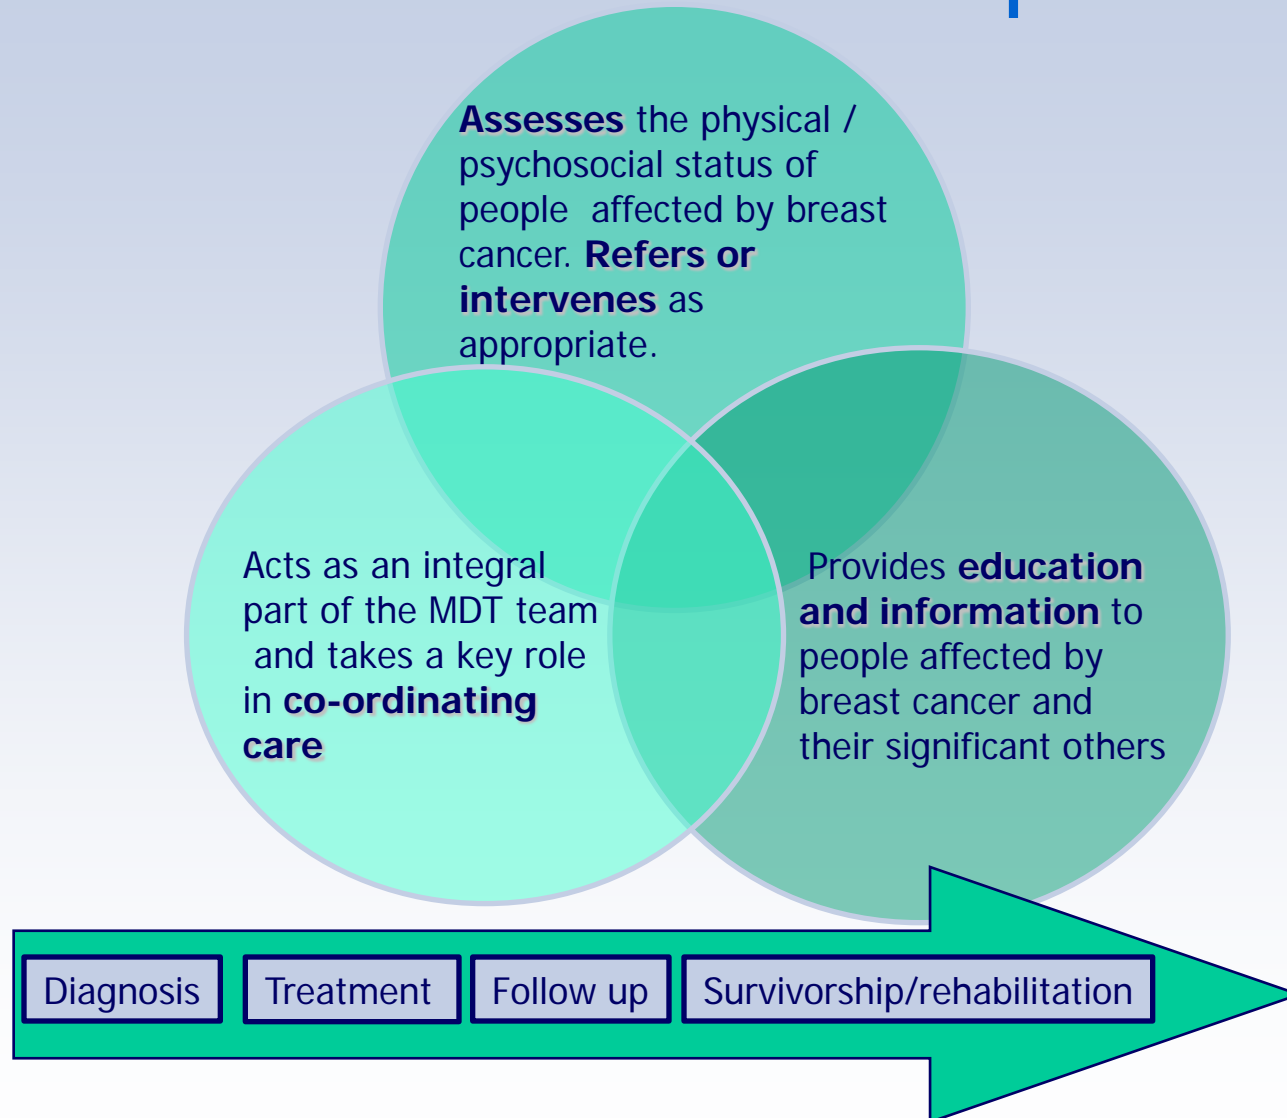

Breast cancer

- Quality standards for cancer specialist units require a core team of specialists including Breast Care Nurses (BCN)
- To date, all over Europe, the competencies, roles and training of BCNs vary considerably between different settings and countries
- The European Parliamentary Group on Breast Cancer and EUSOMA (The European Society of Breast Cancer Specialists) called for agreed European guidelines on breast care nursing and training
- In response, the European Oncology Nursing Society (EONS) commissioned the development of a Post-basic Curriculum for Breast Cancer Nursing

Three dimensions of practice

Implementation

- Single, flexible module at post-basic level
- Can be taken with other EONS modules
- Module should be taken up across Europe to ensure minimum standards of care for people affected by breast cancer

EONS thanks to the team: Dr. Deborah Fenlon,
Saskia Claassen, Dr. Manuela Eicher,
Dr. Ilana Kadmon, Sara Marquard, Dr. Emma Pennery
Professor Yvonne Wengström

Post-basic curriculum in lung cancer

- ▶ Lung cancer- 3rd most commonly diagnosed cancer in the EU (343,473 from 1993-95)
- ▶ 10.2% 5 year survival for patients across Europe (EUROCARE-4)
- ▶ Most common cause of death from cancer in the EU
- ▶ 15-70% of patients with advanced cancer have respiratory problems
- ▶ Co-morbidity and complexity of symptoms
- ▶ Advanced cancer management & palliation

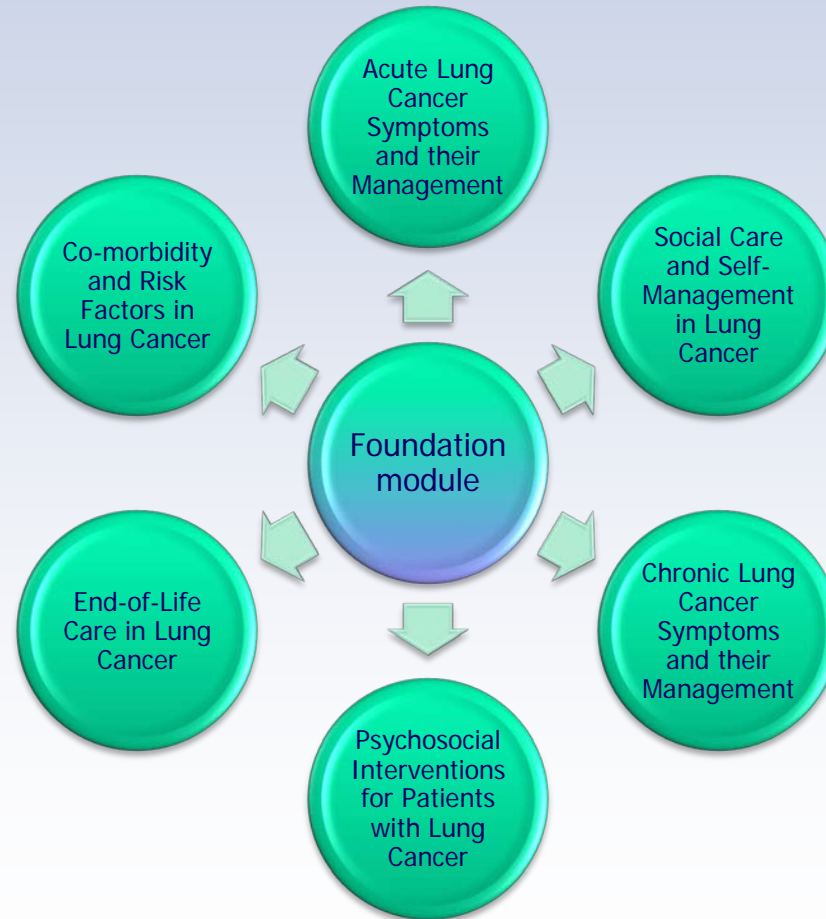

Aims of the curriculum

- Provide a practice-based educational framework for educators, managers and national cancer nursing societies of what is required from a post-basic or post-registration educational programme for nurses caring for lung cancer patients
- 2. Enhance nurses' knowledge, understanding and practice skills in order to improve the nursing care and management of people with lung cancer
- 3. Empower nurses to provide input into the multi-professional management of lung cancer including clinical research, practice, service delivery and policy development

Programme structure

EONS thanks to the team

Sally Moore (UK), Dr Graham Dark (UK), Helen Ekfors (SE), Dusanka Tadic (Serbia), Janice Richmond (Eire) and Dr Stephen O'Connor (NL) for their help in developing the lung cancer nursing curriculum.
